"Taking care of who you care about." This guiding principle has shaped Michael G. May's approach to estate and business planning for over 30 years. Mike believes that the essence of his work lies in providing sound advice and ensuring clients are in the driver's seat, with him as a trusted advisor.

Mike's extensive experience spans a diverse range of clients, including business owners, high-net-worth individuals, "C-Suite" executives, blended families, widows, newlyweds, divorcees, new parents, childless couples, unmarried couples, and families with treasured assets like vacation homes. His dual qualifications as a lawyer and Certified Financial Planner™ enable him to bridge the gap between legal services and financial planning, ensuring comprehensive and coordinated advice.

Mike collaborates closely with clients' accountants, investment advisors, and other professionals to achieve desired outcomes. His proactive approach helps identify and correct issues such as improperly funded trusts or overlooked investment ownership consequences.

A prolific writer and sought-after speaker, Mike has contributed numerous articles to peer-reviewed journals and other publications. His ability to demystify complex subjects has earned him a loyal following among peers and clients. He has also played a pivotal role in establishing charitable funds, foundations, and trusts, and was honored as the 2018 Professional Advisor of the Year by the Greater Milwaukee Foundation.

Mike considers it a privilege to assist clients during the challenging times following the loss of a loved one. His services include representing executors in probate and tax matters and preparing trust and estate tax returns. DeWitt's deep bench of experienced professionals adds significant value to this process.

Before joining DeWitt, Mike operated his own law firm with offices in suburban Milwaukee and Chicago. Outside of his professional endeavors, he enjoys skiing, golf, traveling, and spending time with his family.
